RICHARD BENSON

ISBN: 978 1 84953 187 0      Hardback      208 pages      £9.99      3rd October 2011

When the fish just aren't biting and you're feeling sick from staring too long at the water, dip into this hearty and amusing collection of fishy quips and quotes, and remind yourself that the fun of fishing is not always in the catch!

"My best fishing memory is about some fish that I never caught." George Orwell

"Then there's wet weather gear, a good pair of waders... mind you, that's just 'cause I love dressing up in rubber." Chris Tarrant

"Oceans are getting so polluted that the other day I caught a tuna fish that was already packed in oil." Charlie Viracola

For centuries, man has been finding solace at the edge of rivers, lakes and ponds, whiling away the hours in the pursuit of that elusive creature: the fish. Whether it is for solitude, camaraderie, the desire to be with nature or actually for need of food, men and women have always looked for excuses to go a-fishing; although the actual catching of fish may feature less often than one would like.

"The fishing was good; it was the catching that was bad." A. K. Best

"There's a reason they call it 'fishing' and not 'catching'." Anonymous

"If people concentrated on the really important things in life, there'd be a shortage of fishing poles." Doug Larson

Whether a fisherman, an angler, or simply a cod-and chips kind of person, it seems everyone has something to say about the noble sport of fishing – some of them are even truthful; which can't always be said for this breed of man (or woman!). Whether debating the fisherman's questionable attire or proclaiming their love of all things fishy, this book is full of the wittiest and best quotations and is sure to leave you reeling.
